

THE HEMARI HISTORY

Notice: The information contained in this work is not authorized for duplication or distribution to other websites or repositories. The information contained in this work is not official, until the final version appears in Tribal Law vs. Dragon's Rule.

18,500,000 BC

Samiel engenders the Imaja: bloodthirsty shock troops that protect him from his enemies among the other Abzulim.

17,000,000 BC

The Imaja slowly give themselves over to various emotions to repress their destructive instincts. Samiel makes use of this by giving them as consorts to other Abzulim loyal to him as well as those he believes may betray him. The Imaja now serve as spies for Samiel.

15,000,000 BC

Other breeds similar to the Imaja are created: Gaki, Terat, Adze, Lamia, Sekeht, Impundulu, Obayifo and Asanbosam. The largest breed (Asanbosam) convinces the others to join with it, including the Imaja. The Asanbosam kith attains nearly complete autonomy and escapes servitude to the Arachne by having the Imaja as their elite leaders as they still curry Samiel's favor.

13,000,000 BC

Samiel whispers the true names of the Trine to his personal bodyguard Imbata Shantii and then bites off his own head. Imbata takes the head and vanishes with the rest of the Imaja breed, leaving the other breeds of the Asanbosam kith behind. The Terat, Lamia, Impundulu and Obayifo breeds go into hiding, finding small spots underground to enter ennui, many remain as such until after 300,000 BC when the children of Loki would find them and turn them into the first Drokes.

8,000,000 BC

The new Abzulim leader Mammon pulls the remaining complacent Asanbosam back into warrior service against the Primals and the Sunedrion. The Imaja are able to remain hidden, and work out rituals based on what Imbata learned from Samiel.

6,500,000 BC

The Imaja join the other immortals sheltering in Babel and use their rituals to summon the Eidolon Trine (Leviathan, Rukshasa and Dracul) from the Labyrinth. Most of the Imaja are burnt to ashes from the sheer power used for the summoning. The Trine causes the First Bloom in Gynnah, cleansing the Primals after they force them to return there. Those Imaja not destroyed flee, leaving behind the head of Samiel.

6,300,000 BC

Unable to continue existing outside of the dying Crucible at this time, the Trine allow the Asanbosam to place shards into their spirits, anchoring them in physical forms. Using what few rituals they gleaned from the Imaja before their destruction, the Asanbosam keep the Trine prisoner within Babel (most believe the Trine willingly allowed for their own "capture"). The Asanbosam begin learning from Rukshasa. Those Asanbosam who are chosen to implant the shards into the Trine become known as the Cadre Raga and they take over the leadership of the Asanbosam after successfully stealing bits of the head of Samiel which they implant into their palms.

5,227,000 BC

The Arachne sneak into Babel to seek out Lilith who is still imprisoned there. While there they poison the Leviathan; it escapes and eventually sinks beneath the waves of the Mediterranean after Dracul wounds it in the process of trying to capture it. Realizing they have been duped, the forces of the Asanbosam return to Babel, but the Arachne are already gone along with Lilith.

1,000,000 BC

The Asanbosam become aware of a large group of travelers entering Sheol near Mesopotamia, but choose to ignore them. The Rukshasa does not and sends personal servants to watch over the proceedings.

500,000 BC

The Asanbosam discover proto-humanity and take them in.

400,000 BC

A group of Morrigan and Tuatha encounter Rukshasa's servants after breaking free from the spell of the Rime. Rukshasa's servants bring them to Babel; upon learning of the Rime's plans, Dracul escapes Babel. With the Asanbosam and Rukshasa following, Dracul leads them to the Malice Shard. Armed with the head of Samiel the Asanbosam create a massive serenade of destruction fueled by the Rukshasa, and destroy the Malice Shard. Afterwards a contingent of Asanbosam is kept in Sheol to stop the Rime and corrupted Morrigan from rebuilding the Malice Shard. During the battles the Rime steals Samiel's vox but his head is lost completely among the vast expanses of Sheol.

320,000 BC

The proto-human servants of the Asanbosam find and destroy the Red Shard through their faith-fueled telepathic link. They touch upon the consciousness of the Sanguinary in the process and it uses their link as a conduit to escape the Red Shard and enters the Morpheum. The Rime abandons the Morrigan; now freed of her influence they begin an alliance with the Asanbosam.

300,000 BC

The Gaki breed left behind to watch over Sheol is continually exposed to the whisperings of the Sanguinary in their minds as a result of its entry into the Morpheum and the presence of proto-humans in Sheol. They flee Sheol and return to Earth in the deserts of what is now Northern China. They will eventually encounter Hela (known as Baba Yaga in that area's mythology) and be seduced to the path of Sanation.

100,000 BC

Anath, a proto-human servant of the Asanbosam, somehow becomes immortal; in his himsati form he appears the equivalent of a modern human of today. Impressed with his abilities they convince the Rukshasa to breed with him. The resulting variety of immortal creatures are implanted with shards from Babel's hidden vaults and become a new breed of servants known as the Anathasians.

75,000 BC

Anath slips away from the Asanbosam after the Rime infiltrates Babel and possesses him. This further splinters the various Anathasians into distinct groups: The Ephraim (Eremites), the Manasseh (Magdalen) and the Titans (who later create the Illuminati and therefore indirectly the Apocrypha).

70,000 BC

The Ephraim, aided by the Manasseh, overthrow their Asanbosam overlords. The Asanbosam willingly submit, appeasing their desire to repress their violent and destructive urges by serving as concubines. The Manasseh and Titans have no such desires and instead flock to the Rukshasa to learn more.

65,500 BC

Dracul escapes Babel once and for all; fearful that Rukshasa will do the same the Asanbosam poison her to keep her close. With no Trine to stand in their way the Ephraim explore deeper into Babel, intent on discovering Abzulim knowledge previously forbidden to them when the Asanbosam were there masters. They do not discover the hidden Abzulim still entombed within Babel.

65,200 BC

The Asanbosam rebel against the Ephraim, fearful of their growing power, this marks the very beginnings of the Shouting War. Unable to take back Babel the Asanbosam draw the Ephraim out and seal it against the Ephraim re-entering. As they flee, Makeda of the Cadre Raga is able to 'rescue' one of the entombed Abzulim, Melheyon the Abzuli Princess.

60,000 BC

The mortal followers of the Asanbosam steadily decrease in number; life force in the Dominions is weak and not plentiful. All the various Prides begin to attack the others in order to take their human followers as the Shouting War becomes about more than the Asanbosam and Ephraim battles over Babel. During this time the few Abzulim remaining in the Dominions release the Shonelkidar, resulting in the creation of the telepathic plague known as the Lash. The Ephraim return to Earth and forge an alliance with the Morrigan and their Peri slaves.

50,000 BC

The Lash peaks, taking out millions of immortals in the Dominions. The Asanbosam return to Earth, allied with the Arachne, and try to get back inside Babel to find a way to cure the Lash, but are stopped by the Ephraim and Morrigan alliance.

48,000 BC

The Terat join the Asanbosam/Arachne alliance against the Morrigan/Ephraim alliance after the Morrigan begin flooding areas of their native Africa. Within a few thousand years the Tuatha join the alliance standing against the Asanbosam after losing territory to them. Huge swaths of early human civilization are completely eradicated, almost as if they never existed.

30,000 BC

The small Lowenfrau kith, a splinter group of the Asanbosam, repulses the Morrigan from the area of present-day Germany and take up residence as early mythical deities there.

22,000 BC

The Ephraim manage to gain entry to Babel; using the power from what few artifacts they are able to find, they push Babel out into the Dominions to become lost among the Nadir worlds. This is an act they will repeat with the Magdalen fortress of Tarterus in the future. This act draws the attention of the Nimrod, who fear the Lash is about to reach Earth as a result of the Shouting War.

19,000 BC

Rukshasa secretly sends a small group of the Asanbosam into the Blue Air physically; they become the Wanderers. Dracul frees Rukshasa from the Asanbosam and the two submit to voluntary imprisonment in Sheol by the Nimrod.

12,000 BC

The Sekeht kith breaks from the Asanbosam over how to deal with the evolving threat of the Nimrod and his people; they go to Africa where they encounter Fenris and fall to the path of Sanation. Only the Adze and Asanbosam kiths remain in the Asanbosam pride.

10,000 BC

Armistice of the Shouting War is decreed in what is present-day Aar Gorge, Switzerland. The Nimrod, now wielding the head of Samiel, lock the Asanbosam in Sheol with the other Prides. Dracul and Rukshasa protect the Prides while the Asanbosam gain additional protection by parlaying the Rukshasa's immaculum-laden milk (colostrums) in exchange for allies to protect them. The former war-leaders they engage for these services eventually become a single group known as the Banjax.

6,999 BC

The Asanbosam escape Sheol with the other Prides, and hide in the wilderness to escape retribution by the other Prides for their stranglehold on the colostrum. They are denied access to the rising Atlantean civilization at first, but a few manage to secretly enter and reside anonymously until the forming of the Stratagem.

6,000 BC

Barely large enough to be considered a Pride, the Asanbosam are finally admitted into the Stratagem due to their meager alliances with the Banjax and formerly the Morrigan. The Adze demand the Pride take a name not associated to either of the two remaining kiths; the collective now becomes Pride Anopheles.

4735 BC

Atlantis is destroyed, the Anopheles travel back to Mesopotamia.

3270 BC

The Morrigan flood the Fertile Crescent destroying most Anopheles settlements, forcing the Anopheles to flee and scatter across the globe.

2900 BC

Some Anopheles return to Mesopotamia and guide mortal humans in establishing dynastic city states in Mesopotamia.

2850 BC

The Anopheles are able to reenact the ritual of summoning, bringing Dracul (now called Sharakai) to them in the Mesopotamian city of Ur. They demand he breed with them to create more children they can make immortal (the Rukshasa remains poisoned so is unable to do so). His followers come to the city and temporarily route the Anopheles long enough to free him, the Dracul become a Pride as a result.

2100 BC

The Anopheles seduce Yu the Great of the Xia Dynasty into giving his seat as Emperor to his son instead of to the most capable. This began a new way of thinking in China and led to over 500 years of decadence under Anopheles rule.

2000 BC

The Anopheles forge an alliance with the Arachne and Dracul to drive Drove Tengu out of China and back to Japan.

1792 BC

The Anopheles sponsored King of Babylon, Hammurabi, begins his conquest of Nimrod-controlled Assyria.

1600 BC

The Anopheles and Dracul end their alliance when the Xia Dynasty is overthrown by the Shang. The Anopheles in China retreat to the North and influence the Hsiung-Nu tribes.

1400 BC

Raatri (the ancient name of Kali) defects from the Anopheles to the Arachne after exposure to the convictions of Hinduism; this ends the pact between the Arachne, Anopheles and Dracul. Distracted by the defection of Raatri, Makeda's wards on Melheyon begin to fail. In order to hide her, she travels to what is now present-day Ethiopia and creates a mantle using a piece of the Red Shard she secretly claimed after its destruction in 300,000 BC. She places Melheyon within to keep her sleeping.

900 BC

The Adze kith of the Anopheles, hearing of new fertile lands to the West of Europe, come to South America and begin to establish colonies there.

854 BC

Having reclaimed the head of Samiel during the battle of Karkar, Makeda's spies uncover the work of Osiris from his time spent studying the Incubus Heart (revealing that it is in existence and in the hands of the Nimrod). Using what she has discovered, she creates an automaton body for the head and this new Femme Darkle stands as a guardian over Sheba and Melheyon.

750 BC

The Hsiung-Nu are confronted and beaten by Mo Tun, who is then made a member of the Dracul. But Anopheles subterfuge and manipulation of the Hsiung-Nu gives them minor power back in China by 704 BC.

678 BC

Duke Huan forces peace between the Anopheles and Dracul in China. In 643 he is officially uplifted into the Dracul after finding out that he is an immortal coming out of lethe. His advisor Kuan Chung (also an immortal) is uplifted into the Anopheles.

632 BC

After Kali steals the heart of the Incubus from the Nimrod, the Anopheles pursue her to the Forbidden City in an attempt to get her and the vox of Samiel back into their fold. The Anopheles are repelled from the Forbidden City primarily through the first recorded true uses of Shaolin Kung Fu animal styles, allowing the Dracul to match the styles of fighting of the Anopheles. The Dracul ask no retribution against the Anopheles, even though their direct attack on another group of immortals was in violation of the Stratagem. They claim the vox of Samiel called out to them and they were partially under its control and so the battle was not started of their own will.

610 BC

Etemenanki, the ziggurat to Marduk is constructed as an effigy to the fortress of Babel and serves as the gateway to a major Anopheles mantle and primary stronghold for some time.

559 BC

The Eremites Persian Empire conquers Mesopotamia and the Canaan lands. The Anopheles of the region along with the Terat of the area eventually flee. Some flee to Thracia (eventually influencing these Slavic lands into present-day Romania, Moldova and surrounding areas) while others go to Africa.

480 BC

The Anopheles, Arachne and Dracul form a new alliance to stop the Tengu, who have again been making incursions into mainland China and India. They win and route the Tengu, driving them East and South back into Japan, but mostly into the areas around present-day Vietnam.

403 BC

The Anopheles, Arachne and Dracul end their alliance as each group attempts to take control of China, which has become the pivotal region for Asia.

214 BC

An alliance of the Anopheles and Dracul in South America prepare to assault the Yucatan entrance to Sheol after the Banjax Olmecs are all but annihilated by the forces of the Dark Lady.

206 BC

The Hsiung-Nu force the dissolution of the Han Dynasty and the Anopheles, Arachne and Dracul again fight for China.

200 BC

The Femme Darkle becomes self-aware and escapes to Sheol where it becomes known as the Dark Lady. Not realizing they are one in the same, the Anopheles believe this "Dark Lady" is an immortal who has stolen the automaton.

167 BC

The Anopheles set up massive rituals to counter the Dark Lady's power from erupting out of Sheol and destroying the Banjax followers the Xapotec, after the Banjax are destroyed in Sheol themselves. This protection lasts for five years. Probes from the Dracul and Anopheles make plans to obtain the Femme Darkle in order to stop its possession of the Dark Lady, who they believe to be a normal immortal.

150 BC

The Adze kith fall to the power of the Dark Lady and Sanation, the new drove founds Teotihuacan in Central America to serve as a rallying point for the Dark Lady.

94 AD

Tlaloc of the Dracul comes out of lethe but is brought into the Anopheles. They attempt to get the secrets of Banjax pyramid making from him, but he refuses to give those secrets up. Instead Tlaloc begins to gather information about the forces of the Dark Lady, claiming she has summoned the soul of Samiel, but he is unable to get proof on return scouting missions into Sheol.

206 BC

Another long period of vying for control of China between the Arachne, Anopheles and Dracul begins again.

251 AD

A group of Morrigan mortal servants assail a temple dedicated to Aphrodite, not knowing that one of the hand maidens is actually Aphrodite herself, recovering from recent failed attempts to route Eremite dominance within Greece. Aphrodite, severely weakened and powerless due to an infusion of faith from devout followers of the Roman Empire, is unable to stop the pillaging of her temple, her maidens, or herself. Once able to regain some small measure of her power, she uses the faith resident inside her to curse the followers of the Morrigan.

306 AD

Tlaloc finishes creating the Pyramid of the Sun (but does not give the Anopheles the secret of how to do it) to use as a massive Ark of Immaculum in the coming battles with Sheol. He begins work on the Pyramid of the Moon to assist the Anopheles mortal followers.

81 AD

An Anopheles Slayer kills Emperor Titus of Rome.

306 AD

Anopheles move into the Karakorum mountains during the Second Hive War; their clashes with the Arachne and the Hive spawn the Hindu epic, the Mahabharata.

427 AD

The Anopheles attempt to help the Arachne rescue Lilith who has been captured by the Hive; they are unable to provide much assistance. Shiva of the Arachne adopts the Anopheles principles of Kalari into a style for the Arachne, anchored in the tenets of Hinduism.

447 AD

The Anopheles Attila the Hun rampages across the Balkans.

615 AD

The Anopheles and the Arachne form a new alliance in order to drive the Hive from India by allowing the Anopheles to find safe haven within China during the Arachne patronned T'ang Dynasty. This spares the Anopheles from the effects of being warped by the Hindu faith of India that the Hive has been turning against the Arachne and all other Prides.

660 AD

The Arachne Scourge Mei-Niang seduced the young new Kao Tsun (Emperor Gaozong) and destroyed the Empress Wang and Kao's first concubine the Anopheles Xiao, then becoming the infamous Empress Wu Zetian. Eventually after Kao Tsun is blinded after a crippling stroke, she takes over his rule and breaks the Anopheles / Arachne alliance. It is only discovered some time after that she had previously unknown allies amongst the Tangu, Sainha and Yellow Turban Taoists; she defects from the Arachne but the damage to the alliance is done.

750 AD

The other Prides in the Stratagem Pact find out about the Dark Lady of Sheol; the Prides begin persecution of the Anopheles and Dracul for keeping her existence secret. The Anopheles lose all power in China as the Arachne gain dominance in the northern reaches, culminating in the rise of their Mongol horde roughly 500 years later.

1395 AD

The Rukshasa begins making the equivalent of scions to shed her physical form.

1200 AD

An alliance of Anopheles and Dracul help to found the Incan Empire in the Cuzco region of South America.

1421 AD

The Anopheles and Eremites during a brief alliance convince a young Mustafa, younger brother of Murad II, to rebel against him, forcing Murad II to stop his advancement of the Ottoman Empire across the Eremite Byzantine Empire at Constantinople.

1438 AD

The Magdalen campaign to remove the Dracul and Anopheles from the Stratagem Pact

1442 AD

Camazotz, an Anopheles Juggler, infiltrates the mortal harem of Sultan Murad II and seduces the Milesian Radu (brother of Vlad Dracula Bassarab) who has been captured by Murad II under the direction of his Arachne patrons. Within a few years she abandons Radu in favor of the obviously more powerful Vlad who the Arachne are grooming to take the throne of Wallachia out from under Pride Dracul. The two Prides plunge Vlad into constant inner torment

1453 AD

The Anopheles and Dracul are expelled from the Stratagem Pact as the Arachne, Nimrod, Magdalen, Eremites, and Morrigan vote in favor of their expulsion

1456 AD

Camazotz falls under the influence of Vlad Dracula Bassarab after he escapes the Arachne and rejoins the Dracul. He persecutes both Arachne and Eremites in Wallachia with the assistance of the Dracul and Anopheles. After the passing of Haley's Comet, Vlad Dracula becomes increasingly erratic in his behavior, forcing Camazotz to leave him. Two years later Vlad Dracula rips out the throat of Camazotz when she is sent back to again seduce him and assassinate him before he goes completely insane. He turns against the Anopheles and Dracul and is brought into the Arachne as an immortal with Camazotz's voice in his throat.

1487 AD

The Incan Empire (covering almost all of the Andes mountain range) of the Anopheles and Dracul comes under assault by the forces of the Dark Lady after 80,000 mortals are sacrificed to the Drove Adze progeny known as Hiutzilopochtli at the dedication of the Great Temple in Tenochtitlan.

1521 AD

The Anopheles of Spain send Hernando Cortez to take control of Tenochtitlan, ending mortal support for the Dark Lady and her forces in Sheol.

1532 AD

Francisco Pizarro sponsored by the Apocrypha contingent in Portugal and Spain, follows Hernando Cortez to South America and infiltrates the Anopheles/Dracul Incan Empire. He conquers their empire for the Apocrypha within 2 years, establishing their presence in South America to this day.

1567 AD

The Anopheles and Dracul alliance lose many Quiet Culture members as typhoid strikes South America, but fortunately the Dark Lady the last of her remaining mortal forces. The alliance storms Sheol and destroys what they believe to be the Zuzog trees and Temple of Sheol. During this time the Apocrypha use a Portuguese blockade for force the Dracul and Anopheles to flee Rio De Janeiro.

1658 AD

The Dracul give up their holdings in Wallachia to the Anopheles and Terat that have been in the area since they left the areas around Mesopotamia near 560 BC.

1666 AD

Several forces of Anopheles descend upon London to battle the Dark Lady and the Dust. The following year they join in the reinstatement of the Stratagem Pact between the Prides.

1700 AD

In addition to their ages old focus on South America and Eastern Europe, the Anopheles also begin to focus on Spain. Spreading their influence throughout the Iberian Peninsula they begin to forge alliances with the Phoenix and fight the Drove Sainha and the Apocrypha of Portugal. This ushers in popularity of new kinds of music and dance and pulls the attentions of the Apocrypha away from their holdings in South America.

1763 AD

The Anopheles controlled Spain gains control over New Orleans as a foothold into the New World.

1767 AD

The Anopheles wrest control of Rio De Janeiro away from the Apocrypha.

1785 AD

In an effort to stop the Magadalen from gaining footholds in Spain, the Anopheles bring the Luststone into France to gain influence within the country. Eventually this allows the Phoenix to incite the peasant populace into revolt and start the French Revolution. The Anopheles succeed at gaining influence when the new Phoenix government provides a voice for all the Prides.

1795 AD

The Anopheles Josephine de Beauharnais begins to seduce general Napoleon Bonaparte in order to remove all other powers from France and allowing the Anopheles to gain full control over the country.

1800 AD

The Anopheles of Spain and Magdalen of France sign a treaty that gives New Orleans back to France.

1803 AD

Napoleon crowns himself Emperor under Anopheles patronage. However, Magdalen sponsored retinue convince Napoleon to sell off France's New World holdings to the United States to keep the Anopheles from gaining a foothold in the United States via France. Shortly after the Magdalen lose almost all power over the French government to the Anopheles. The Anopheles begin earnest colonization of New Orleans, making it their primary base of operations in the United States until the Great Betrayal.

1810 AD

The Dracul gain control of a small part of Rio De Janeiro from the Anopheles and establish a mantle in the heart of the Jardim Botânico.

1821 AD

In order to further drive Magdalen influence away from France and Spain, the Anopheles create a rift within the Magdalen leading to the Greek War of Independence from the Ottoman Empire.

1854 AD

The Anopheles join their mortal forces with those of the Magdalen, Phoenix, Tuatha, Morrigan and Eremites to counter the military power of Nimrod controlled Russia in the Crimean War.

1864 AD

The Dracul-Anopheles alliance of South American begins to attack Drove Adze in Uruguay at the same time as the Apocrypha begin assaults on Brazil from within Paraguay in the Paraguai War. The Anopheles and Dracul begin developing Capoeira from a Terat style used by mortal slaves the Portuguese Apocrypha have brought over from Africa into Brazil.

1884 AD

The Anopheles capture the 1884 World's Fair, called the World Cotton Centennial; though the event is a financial disaster it sparks a tourism trade that provides much of the economic might the Anopheles will wield in the United States in the coming decades.

1900 AD

The Anopheles begin spreading throughout the United States, becoming embroiled in the rise to popularity of many forms of art, music and dance throughout the next several decades. They would go on to play heavy roles in Art Nouveau, Blues and Jazz, Modern Art and Dance the "Roaring Twenties", "hippies", "The Summer of Love", tattooing as a form of art (and identification), acid rock, disco, and women's rights.

1912 AD

A group of Dracul steal the mantle shard of Sheba after the death of its current maker and kidnap Lucrezia Borgia (a mysterious scion of the Rukshasa) from the Anopheles. Their attempt to transport her aboard a ship they partially financed fails when the Leviathan attempts to devour the scion for her powerful Rukshasa-generated life force. Decades later it would be discovered the information the Dracul used to capture the shard and scion was provided via the Rukshasa herself in an attempt to cure the Leviathan thru the use of the scion's life force.

1920 AD

Having successfully pushed for Women's Suffrage in various parts of the world, the Anopheles succeed in their patronage of the Nineteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution. This cements a place among the females of all Prides whose female mortal followers would begin to wield considerable power in politics in America. They are quickly able to take this victory to several other countries throughout the world.

1931 AD

The Anopheles succeed in pushing for the legalization of gambling in Nevada and bring their influence into the Eremite cities of Las Vegas and Reno. Within two years they also succeed in their push to end Prohibition in the United States as well.

1936 AD

The Apocrypha and Phoenix / Anopheles alliance vie for control of Spain in the Spanish Civil War. The Eremite-sponsored Hitler sends in troops to assist Spanish nationalists. As a result, the Anopheles in France and Eastern Europe quietly step aside three years later for the Eremites occupation of several areas they have formerly controlled.

1954 AD

Backed by Anopheles and Banjax, racial segregation is effectively outlawed in the United States.

1962 AD

The Anopheles Harlequin Marilyn Monroe is consigned to the Blue Air by the Tengu in an effort to dissuade United States President JFK from continuing his push in Vietnam. The Arachne, requiring US involvement to push against the Tengu Ho Chi Minh, arranged for the assassination of JFK to stop the withdrawal.

1975 AD

The Anopheles and Phoenix begin fueling the transition of Spain from a dictatorship to a democracy, pushing the Apocrypha back into Portugal.

1976 AD

The Anopheles use the new midnight screenings of the Rocky Horror Picture Show to draw in and find new recruits to their Quiet Cultures in the United States and abroad.

1978 AD

The Anopheles are unsuccessful in stopping the mass suicide at Jonestown, Guyana in South America. But prevent the commune from growing large enough for the suicide to open a portal into Sheol.

1980 AD

The Anopheles in the United States and most of Europe begin transferring most of their power into the entertainment, fashion and vice industries. They cement several alliances among the other Prides and many begin to serve as "consorts" to regents from other Prides in cities across the world. Within South America the Anopheles begin to finally cement their political and cultural hold over Brazil and step aside in other regions as the Banjax retake a foothold in other countries in South America, bringing democracy to places like Argentina, Uruguay and Chile.

1990 AD

The Femme Darkle is stolen from its vault in the remnants of the Temple of Sheol.

1993 AD

The first mantle of life is temporarily unearthed in Africa. One of the first "Mentors" of the Morrigan buried alive in 175,000 BC is discovered by the name of Shrike and taken in by the Anopheles as one of their own.

1994 AD

Anopheles begin searching the world for former members from 1666 who seem to be coming out of a special form of Lethe as evidenced by the events in Africa with the Ark of Conundrum and the mantle of life. Special attention is given to North America where the majority seems to be found. The Cadre Raga are discovered to have an entombed Abzulim within the crumbling mantle of Sheba, the Jury arrives to stop the rampaging monster which has been weakened by a group of young Ingenue with a Sunedrion arrow. The Raga begin to act erratically and divisions become apparent within the Anopheles; probable year Anopheles hierarchy is first influenced by the Abzulim, Ingadia the Vile.

1995 AD

An Outlander known only as Suurade causes an outbreak of pneumonic plague in India that begins to reach out to other nearby areas. Magdalen, Anopheles and Arachne Probes and Mystics are called on to determine the cause of the disease, which spreads while its victims sleep. It is determined Solitaires are using the plague to find immortals in lethe.

1997 AD

A number of the Cadre Raga and high ranking Anopheles go into seclusion, many more are sent out to serve as consorts to members of the other Prides, not just to regents any longer. Rumors circulate that the Raga and those in seclusion are involved in the current Nimrod "Civil War".

1998 AD

The "Seduction" begins as the Raga begin making contact with Drovers and forging alliances with them. They begin using the Darkle resident in their palms to gain information from the dispersed consorts being sent out since 1980 AD. The Anopheles Aphrodite begins gathering wayward members of the Anopheles after suspecting foul play among the other Anopheles elders.

1999 AD

Mass accurate attacks by the Drovers begin against all the Prides, Aphrodite gathers remaining Anopheles into Xanadu and becomes trapped and cut off from the rest of the Perpetual Society by Drove forces assailing the mantle; Perpetual Society is still unaware that most Anopheles they are dealing with are actually traitors. Aphrodite and her people are considered lost and destroyed.

2001 AD

Aphrodite emerges from Xanadu and gathers remaining Anopheles from beyond Xanadu that have survived the treachery of their sisters. She also takes in wayward immortals who stand against the seven sins thru love, desire and inspiration. This group is approached by members of the Jury who join with them to form the Court of Desire.

2003 AD

During the final battle in Nivalea, the Court of Desire unleashes the Master Stroke, a combined ritualistic serenade that overwhelms a number of already confused Drovers who suddenly can no longer hear the voice of the Sanguinary whispering in their minds. This, coupled with the actions of the other Prides finally routes the massive Drove force, causing them to splinter and flee Nivalea. After the apparent dissolution of the Drovers the Courts quickly break up, only to face new tactics within the year. Aphrodite's people are small in number at this point and have no focus other than to discover what happened to their former sisters in the Anopheles.

2004 AD

The other newly forming tribes do not initially allow Aphrodite's people to join the pact as their own tribe due to their small size. Hippolyta of the former Shadowen House Amazon steps forward and pledges her people to join Aphrodite's own; as the two groups become one Aphrodite steps down as leader. Eros becomes Paragon of the newly crowned Hemari Tribe with Houses Amazon and Aphros making up the vast majority of the Tribe.

2005 AD

The two houses of the Hemari Tribe come to startling conclusions.

Semiramis and the Coven have retained the name of Shadowen and are now ensconced in the former Temple of Sheol and Semiramis herself wields both the Femme Darkle and the Throne of Samiel. Hippolyta is granted a single audience with Semiramis and it is made clear that while the Shadowen stand against the Drovers, they stand against the Tribes as well.

Aphrodite's people find the Anopheles, still holding several of their ancient strongholds. At first welcomed by their former sisters, things quickly turn deadly and battles erupt as the Anopheles have embraced the ancient Sanguine religion of Sanation. The Hemari report back to the rest of the Tribes that the former Pride Anopheles is now Drove Anopheles.